Today's Women Understand Priorities...

Shouldn't we Expect the Same from Local Government?

Whether they're running a household, working 9 to 5 or running a small business, most women know the demands of juggling a career, a family and community involvement.

They have to establish priorities.

Shouldn't we expect the same of local government?

"I don't believe government should be involved in the business of telecommunications. We have enough financial problems and should concentrate on the education of our children and the safety of our community."

Pattie Macklin
Administrative Assistant

St. Charles

"Why are we even talking about building an expensive government operated utility. This is a big risk. Don't we have more pressing needs that deserve our attention, first?"

Carol Leppert
Retired

Batavia

"I use the Internet frequently, but I'm not a computer expert. I'm guessing that there is a relatively small percentage of Tri Cities residents who will benefit from this network. Unfortunately, the financial risk falls on all of us as taxpayers. That doesn't seem fair."
